Strike Declared Off.

New York People Need No Longer Walk.

ANOTHER RIOT OCCURS.

One of the Strikers Shot and Killed and Two Others Wounded—A Well Planned Attack on a Car Full on Account of the Shooting—The Details.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The street car tie-up in this city was declared off last night by the Knights of Labor local assembly.

A large crowd of strikers and their sympathizers attacked a car of the Forty-second street line at the Boulevard and Sixty-second street about 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There are few buildings in the neighborhood and no policemen were in sight to aid the weary officer in the car, Thomas K. Schneider.

There was but one passenger—an old lady. She got out when the car stopped and escaped unhurt. In a moment the windows of the car were shattered, and a shower of stones was falling upon the officer, driver and conductor. Schneider used his club freely, but could make no headway against the mob. The driver and conductor defended themselves as best they could. A rioter grabbed Schneider and smashed his helmet with a brick, at the same time another hurled a brick which struck the officer full in the mouth, knocking out several teeth. Schneider broke away his revolver and fired twice over the heads of the mob. A few of the rioters ran away when the firing began, but most of them stood firm and quickly took another rush for the car. As they advanced, Schneider aimed at the leaders and fired three times in quick succession. The driver and conductor also fired. The mob wavered, and then fled in all directions. One woman boy was left on the spot, and two less seriously injured were helped away by their friends.

Schneider stood over the prostrate and unconscious man until a detachment of reserves came up. It was found that the wounded man was James Clifford, aged twenty-five, who had been a hooker at the 129th street stables and was out on a strike. He was taken to Roosevelt hospital where he died a few moments later. He was single. His brothers are bowlers at the Ninth avenue road. His parents live in Ireland. He had been in America five years. The bullet which killed him had struck his arm and ranged upward into the brain.

Schneider went to the 126th street station and gave himself up. Superintendent Murray sent an officer with him to the Essex Market police court where he was arraigned before Justice Patterson. He stated that he fired several shots in self-defense but could not tell whether McGowan had been struck by one of his bullets or not. Louis Brennan, a brother of Charities Commissioner Brennan, an eye witness of the fight, described the affair as above, and said he was positive that McGowan was shot by the conductor, who fired in self-defense. Several other witnesses testified that it was not Schneider's bullet that struck McGowan. Justice Patterson discharged Schneider and issued an order for the arrest of the conductor. Schneider is twenty-eight years old, has been a policeman two years and has an excellent record.

The attack on the car was carefully planned. Mr. Doolittle, who lives in a house overlooking the scene, and witnessed the whole affair, says he saw men coming from all directions as if by previous consent. They concentrated, and the man took the lead, directing their movements. They threw two trucks over the tracks just in time to stop the car, and at a signal from the leader every man drew a brick or stone from under his coat and bombarded the car. The crowd then made a rush, and would have made short work of the leaders of the outbreak but for the firing.

The Strike in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 6.—The interest in the tie-up of the Atlantic avenue car lines outside of those directly interested in the trouble is beginning to wane. The cars on the Fifth avenue line are running with two policemen to each car and are fairly patronized. President Richardson told a committee that he would take the strikers back if they came and applied individually, he would not recognize their organization nor would he discharge the new men he had put on in their places. After he got all his cars running he desired then he would make his arrangements with the men.

Examining the New Gunboat.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—At Cramp's navy yard Commodore Fitzhugh, Commander Sheppard, Chief Engineer Kutz and Naval Constructor Robert W. Steele began their inspection of the United States gunboat Yorktown. They are followed in their examination by a large number of minor naval officials, and the work, being entirely one of technical detail, is of slow progress. This inspection must be made to meet the requirement of law. As soon as it is completed Commodore Fitzhugh will order a trial trip, under command of Capt. Steele, to sea. It is not yet certain when the Yorktown will sail, but it will probably be before the close of the present week.

Trying to Select a Senator.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 6.—When the roll of the senate was called in joint assembly yesterday, Senator Vanpelt arose and in a short speech explaining his position and protesting against being classed as a kicker, voted for Henry S. Walker. Delegate Morrill voted for E. W. Wilson. Messrs. Dorr and Shanklin for Frank Hereford. The Union Labor men voted for S. H. Pierson. Kenna received forty-one votes and Goff forty-three. Merrill voted for Kenna, in the second ballot, but this was the only change. The assembly dissolved after the second ballot.

Detained Immigrants Allowed to Land.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The 169 immigrants who arrived here by the steamship La Normandie from Havre yesterday, and who were detained at quarantine in consequence of smallpox on the vessel, were landed at Castle Garden this morning.

KILLED BY A MADMAN.

An Old Fruit Vender Meets a Horrible Death at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 6.—Francis Valentine, an old fruit vender, met with a horrible death last night at the hands of a maniac named Oscar Lee Willey. Willey is a son of the late Archibald Willey, of Gloucester Point, Va., whence he came three weeks ago to the home hospital to undergo treatment for insanity. Escaping from that institution yesterday he wandered about the city all day. About 9 p. m. he attracted attention on Pratt street by weeping and shouting "There's blood on the moon." He stopped at Valentine's fruit stand, corner of Pratt and Calvert streets, and glared at the old man. Then he rushed to the opposite corner and breaking a show case filled with cutlery, owned by a street merchant named Wills, seized a long knife and made a lunge at Wills. The latter ran up Calvert street, followed by the madman who cut Wills' coat from his back.

Abandoning the chase the maniac returned to the fruit stand and attacked Valentine like a demon. He inflicted twelve gashes on the old man's head and neck, and as many more on the hands. Policeman Ward ran to the rescue. Then the maniac sought the officer's blood. Both men are powerfully built, but Willey's strength seemed supernatural, for he handled Ward like a child, and was about to plunge his knife into the officer's neck when one Martin felled him with a club. The insane man is locked up at the Central station. Valentine died to-day.

Latest From Hayti.

Some Startling News Brought By an English Steamer.

A BATTLE OF THE NATIVES.

A Number of General Legitime's Soldiers Killed, Several Hundred Taken Prisoners and Thirteen Generals Shot Dead as Traitors and Conspirators—A Town Bombarded By Two Gunboats.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The British steamer Harold, which has just arrived from Port de Paix from northern Hayti, brought some startling news of the latest Haytian efforts to capture Hyppolite's stronghold, Gonaives. Johannes Haustelt, Hyppolite's agent in New York, is the authority for the statement, that Gonaives has been bombarded by President Legitime's man-of-war without damage, and that several hundred of Legitime's soldiers have been taken prisoners and thirteen generals shot dead as traitors and conspirators.

These facts Mr. Haustelt received by mail from Port de Paix.

THE TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE, HAYTIAN GUNBOAT.

On the afternoon of January 25, according to the report, the steamer Dessalines, accompanied by the Toussaint L'Overture, of Legitime's navy, came to an anchor off Gonaives and demanded the immediate surrender of the town under penalty of bombardment. A portion of Hyppolite's army, numbering more than two thousand men, was in possession of Gonaives, while within eighteen miles the main body of his army was encamped.

No reply was made to the demand to surrender the town and the man-of-war opened fire. Its marksmanship was poor and its guns too small to damage the town, and after several hours the bombardment was abandoned and a force was sent on shore in small boats to capture the town by assault. Legitime's men were overpowered, and while a number were killed and wounded, the remainder, of several hundred, were taken prisoners. No mercy was shown to the generals, of whom, it is said, there were thirteen in all. They were immediately shot.

Mr. Haustelt said that the names of generals who were shot were not mentioned in his letter.

Mr. Kunhardt, of the firm of Kunhardt & Company, admitted that he had heard that Gonaives had been successfully bombarded by President Legitime's forces but had heard no particulars.

Minister Preston denied that he had heard anything of the bombardment and added: "I could manufacture news myself if I cared to do so, but I am in better business. I do not believe that that Gonaives has been bombarded."

At the Harrison Residence.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—The most noted caller upon Gen. Harrison yesterday was Col. Mosby, the ex-confederate guerrilla chieftain. He stopped here on his way to Washington, he said, by invitation of the president-elect. Yesterday evening Col. Mosby received a note at the Denison saying the general was ready to see him and soon afterward the two went into a conference at the Harrison residence. The members of Gen. Harrison's Grand Army post presented the president-elect last night with a handsome gold badge made in the form of a star with a diamond set in each of the five points.

Embezzler Moore Indicted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 6.—The county grand jurors have returned an indictment against Joseph A. Moore, defaulting agent for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, for embezzlement, and investigation is being made, looking to an indictment for forgery.

Dropped Dead in Court.

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 6.—James Welch, a prominent lawyer of this place, dropped dead in court Monday while addressing the bench. Heart disease is supposed to have killed him.

Rudolph's Funeral.

Last Sad Rites Over Austria's Late Crown Prince.

HIS BODY PLACED IN A VAULT

Mourning Emblems Displayed in All Parts of Vienna—Members of the Royal Family That Attended the Funeral—People Arrested For Talking About His Tragic Death.

VIENNA, Feb. 6.—The funeral of Crown Prince Rudolph took place yesterday. A profusion of mourning emblems were displayed in all parts of the city and business was almost entirely suspended. The emperor and empress and Princess Stephanie attended a requiem mass in the oratory of the palace, the services ending about noon. The coffin was closed at 2 o'clock and soon afterward the imperial family gathered around the catafalque to take a last farewell of the dead.

"About 4 o'clock the imperial party left the chapel and proceeded to the Capuchin church, where they were received by the father guardian. They then passed through the cloister into the church, taking their places near the three rows of prie dieux, which had been set apart for the emperor and empress, the king and queen of the Belgians and the Austrian archdukes and archduchesses. The catafalque was erected in the middle of the church and surrounded by elaborate candelabra. The church was heavily draped with mourning. Shortly after 4 o'clock the coffin was carried to the funeral car and the cortege started for the Augustine church, where the priests attached thereto awaited its arrival. These priests headed the cortege and were followed by the state officials.

Upon the arrival of the funeral car at the cloister gates the emperor and the king and ministers, high parliamentary officers and the officials of the imperial household were already present. Archbishop Ganglebauer met the coffin at the entrance to the church and preceded it to the interior, where he blessed the body and sprinkled it with holy water. The choir then sang "Libera Me Domine." When the coffin was about to be carried to the vault the emperor approached it, knelt and prayed. Every one present followed the coffin to the vault where Cardinal Haulenlake delivered the body to the father guardian. None of the ladies of the imperial family attended the funeral services proper. The streets were thronged with people who conducted themselves in a most befitting manner.

It is announced that Emperor Francis Joseph will donate 400,000 florins to the maintainance of Duchess Stephanie and that her daughter, Princess Elizabeth, will be educated in Vienna in accordance with Crown Prince Rudolph's will.

It is announced that Princess Stephanie has decided to return to Brussels.

Several persons have been arrested in cafes here for repeating the rumors that Crown Prince Rudolph met his death at the hands of the husband of the woman he had betrayed. Two gentlemen, who were conversing on the subject in loud tones in the Graben, were taken in custody. It is asserted that the crown prince, in his last letter to his mother, said: "I cannot live longer."

The letter which Crown Prince Rudolph addressed to Herr Von Szoegyenyi, the attache who attended to the prince's private affairs has been published. It directs the attache to execute Rudolph's will, which was drawn up two years ago, and says that he will find his papers in a drawer in his study. "I entrust you with the arrangement of them," continues the letter. "Use your own judgment as to what of them you will publish. I am living no longer. Remember me to all good friends. Farewell. God bless the beloved fatherland."

A meeting was held yesterday of the council having charge of Prince Rudolph's work on Austria-Hungary. Herr Von Szoegyenyi intimated that the emperor was in favor of continuing and completing the work which he said would probably be finished under the patronage of Crown Princess Stephanie.

A Mass Held in London.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A requiem mass was held here for the late Austrian crown prince. The Prince of Wales, Prince Christian, Prince Henry of Battenberg, Lord Salisbury and the Russian, French, German, Turkish and Belgian ministers attended it.

Newspapers Condemned.

BERLIN, Feb. 6. The North German Gazette severely condemns the newspapers which have printed the report that Crown Prince Rudolph was shot on account of relations with a woman.

Another Account of How He Died.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Another addition to the remarkable collection of stories to account for the death of Crown Prince Rudolph is at hand. It is related that a beautiful young baroness arrived at the shooting lodge at Meyerling last Tuesday night, and stopped at the game keeper's house. At midnight she was visited by the crown prince. Soon afterward a forester, wishing to talk with the game keeper, knocked at the door of the lodge, when he saw a man jump out of the window. He immediately raised his gun and shot the man in the shoulder. The baroness, hearing the shot, believed that her companion had been killed and committed suicide by taking poison. Prince Rudolph, learning of this, shot himself in the head after reaching his room.

A Horse Thief Hung to a Tree.

SCHUYLER, Neb., Feb. 6.—George Haggerman, a horse thief, was taken from his cell in the county jail last night and hung to a tree in the court house yard by unknown parties. The sheriff knew nothing of the affair until this morning. The prisoner in the next cell to Haggerman's claims he did not hear anybody taking him out.

The Ives and Stayner Case.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The application for a change of venue in the case of Ives and Stayner, which was to have been heard yesterday before Judge O'Brien, has been postponed until Thursday next.

AN ECCENTRIC WOMAN.

She Threatens to Assassinate Seven Chicago Judges.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Marion Leonard, a well known eccentric woman frequently engaged in litigation, in which she acts as her own lawyer, created a wild sensation yesterday by an attempt to assassinate seven judges of the circuit court. At 9 o'clock in the morning, she sent a letter to Judge Jamieson, stating that she intended to assassinate Judge Collins in his court room at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Bailiffs were placed on guard and precisely at 4 o'clock she walked into the county building, ascending by the elevator. She was arrested at the door of Judge Collin's room. No weapons were found upon her. She has since said that she intended to shoot seven of the judges, but gives no details of her plans. She is regarded as a harmless crank, but will be sent to the insane asylum.

O'Brien Out Of Jail.

The Government Relents in Its Treatment of Him.

HE IS TAKEN TO A HOSPITAL.

A Great Triumph For the Nationalists. The Government Has Suddenly Realized That She Has Her Hands Full Italy Must Not Disarm—Other Dispatches From Abroad.

DUBLIN, Feb. 6.—The outcry against the barbarous treatment of Editor O'Brien has been too much for the Irish government. The country threatened to rise if it was continued. Indignation in England was as strong as it was here, and had its effect on the ministry. Mr. O'Brien has been removed from the cell in Clonmel prison to the hospital, and his own clothes were restored to him.

The government's sudden change of tactics in regard to the treatment of William O'Brien in Clonmel prison is certainly a great triumph for the Nationalists, and is everywhere looked upon with feelings of satisfaction and relief. The fact is that the government no longer dared to oppose the rushing tide of popular disgust at the gratuitous hardships imposed upon Mr. O'Brien, hence the decision of the castle authorities to treat him during the remaining period of his confinement as a first-class misdemeanant. The demonstrations planned in England to protest against the action of the officials of Clonmel prison surpass in extent and earnestness any popular movement that has taken place in the country since the outcry against the Bulgarian atrocities.

It had been impossible for the newspapers to print one-quarter of the meetings already held for the purpose of demanding Mr. O'Brien's release, and the government has finally come to a realization of its inability to withstand the pressure brought upon it from all sides for a modification, at least, of the prison discipline in his case. Mr. Balfour's Dublin speech was the straw that broke the camel's back. Even the most rabid Tories have made haste to condemn the vindictiveness of his utterances and point out the incalculable injury done to the party throughout the country thereby, and there is now scarcely one to be found who would admit that he had ever approved Mr. Balfour's course in the matter. It appears that Dr. Howitzon, the physician of Clonmel prison, was only recently discharged from a lunatic asylum, where he had been confined two years, and this revelation is calculated to inspire confidence in his opinions as to the effect of rigid discipline upon the health of a refractory criminal.

Italy Must Not Disarm.

ROME, Feb. 6.—In the chamber of deputies yesterday there was an earnest debate on the budget. The deficit was attributed to the heavy burden of military and naval expenditure, and the government was asked when some relief could be hoped for. Signor Crispi replied not at present. He declared that so long as all Europe was armed to the teeth and continued to arm, it was absurd to suggest that Italy should disarm.

Nellie Grant's Husband's Fortune.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—By the terms of the will of Mr. Edward Sartoris, father of Algernon Sartoris, the husband of Nellie Grant, his entire fortune valued at £145,000, is bequeathed to his son during his life and at his death to his wife absolutely.

A Destructive Fire.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—News is received here of the occurrence of two enormously destructive fires at Mandalay. By the first, 632 houses, the bazar and the Buddhist monastery were burned, and the second resulted in the destruction of 500 houses. Both fires were of accidental origin.

Foreign Brevities.

Lord Charles Beresford spent several hours yesterday in an interview with Prince Bismarck and afterward dined with Count Herbert Bismarck. The conversation between Prince Bismarck and Lord Beresford is said to have been exceedingly frank. Lord Beresford was treated with great consideration by all who met him.

Barrett, the milkman, has been rearrested at Bradford on the strength of the verdict of the coroner's jury, which charges him with the murder of the boy, John Gill.

A general strike prevails among the glass workers at Charleroi. Numerous collisions have occurred between the strikers and the police in which many of the former and some of the latter have been wounded.

Judge Lambert Tree, recently transferred from the American legation at Brussels to that at St. Petersburg, was received by Prince Bismarck yesterday.

A German spy named Schmidt has been arrested and imprisoned at Chambery. He had upon his person plans of the fortification Italian frontier.

A dispatch to the London Chronicle from Berlin, states that it is understood that the American government has consented that the conference between the United States and Germany regarding Samoa, shall be continued in Berlin.

The Oklahoma Affair.

Presidential Message Sent to Congress on the Subject.

THE BILL WILL BE VETOED.

Present Treaty Between the Creek Indians and the National Government—Coal to Be Sent to Samoa at Once—Various Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The President sent to congress a message transmitting an agreement with the Creek Indians, Indian Territory, by which, for a given consideration, the Creek Indians cede to the United States the western half of the present Creek reservation. The agreement was signed in Washington January 19. It provides that for the consideration of $2,280,857, paid by the United States, the Creek Indians cede the western half of the Creek reservation. Two hundred and eighty thousand, eight hundred and fifty-seven dollars is to be paid in cash to the treasurer of the Creek council, and $2,000,000 is to be placed in the United States treasury to the credit of the Creeks, and to draw 5 per cent. interest. The Indians by the terms of the agreement bind themselves to use the interest on the fund for the education of their children and the extinction of civilization among them.

A full history of the terms of the agreement accompanies the message. The president says, is free from any suspension of unfairness or injustice to the Indians."

The Indians themselves took the initative in the matter.

The president recommends that congress ratify it, and directs attention to the fact that by the terms of agreement, it must be ratified to become effective, prior to July 1, 1889.

The last two-thirds part of the land known as Oklahoma.

The portion taken by the president in his message to congress is created a renewal of the agreement by which Oklahoma fell will not receive favorable approval. It is stated in public circles lately, may, however, of those who have opposed the Oklahoma bill, that the action of the president somewhat vindicates their well-worn fit. The vote in the senate may bring the bill to the committee on territories or leads that its passage there is assured.

Coal Sent to Samoa.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. The advices to receive there to the effect that vessels had already been chartered to carry coal to Pago Pago are premature. The navy department have not yet closed with the ship owners, but expect to do so soon, and then ship about three thousand tons of coal from New York or Philadelphia to the Pago Pago coaling station. The last shipment of coal to this station was made in 1887, when about two thousand five hundred tons were shipped there, and the shipment has lasted more than six years. In fact from late advices is not entirely exhausted to day, although the presence of several United States war ships in Samoan water during the past few months has resulted in an unusually heavy drain on the coal bunkers at Pago Pago. The new consignment of coal had down at Pago Pago will be pretty high priced fuel, costing the government about $8 per ton here and from $12 to $13 per ton for transportation to Pago Pago. The vessel carrying it will probably be ninety days in reaching destination, and sailing by the way of the Cape of Good Hope and south of both Australia and New Zealand, will probably traverse 16,000 miles before reaching the Samoan Gulf.

Governor Hill in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. Governor Hill, of New York, arrived here yesterday afternoon and is stopping at the Arlington. Last night he was entertained at Secretary Whitney at the dinner given by the secretary to the president and his cabinet. To-morrow Secretary Whitney will give a reception at his home in honor of Governor Hill, to which he has invited the democratic members of the senate and house, a number of prominent democratic officials, representative Democrats of this district and correspondents of Democratic journals in Washington. A cold buffet will be served, as last opportunity will be offered to all of the governor's Democratic friends here to shake him by the hand, prior to his departure for New York city on a late train in the afternoon.

A Dinner at the Whitney Residence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. Secretary Whitney gave a dinner party last night to the cabinet and his friends. Covers were laid for twenty-six persons. The party included the president and Mrs. Cleveland, Secretary Bayard and Miss Bayard, Secretary Endicott and Mrs. Endicott, Secretary Fairchild and Mrs. Fairchild, Secretary Vilas and Mrs. Vilas, Postmaster General Dickinson and Mrs. Dickinson, Secretary Whitney and Mrs. Whitney, Governor Hill, Mrs. Folsom, Speaker Carlisle and Mr. Carlisle, Senator Blackburn and Mr. Blackburn, Mr. D. Willis James and Mrs. James, of New York; Hon. W. L. Rose and Mr. Russell, of Boston; Mr. Smith Wood, of New York, and Mrs. Henry Watterson.

Senate and House Proceedings.

In the senate the Oklahoma bill was reported from the committee on Indian affairs with a recommendation that it be referred to the committee on territories. The Union Pacific funding bill was the regular order, but it was laid aside for the legislative appropriation bill. The conference report on the bill amending the interstate commerce law was presented. At 5:15 the senate adjourned.

In the house the senate amendment to the bill relieving Gen. William F. Smith was concurred in, giving him the rank of major of engineers. The conference report on the Nicaragua canal bill was considered, and at 5:30 o'clock was not concluded, the night session being for the consideration of bills reported from the committee on public buildings and grounds.

Preparations Begun.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. Advices have been received here that the government has already begun preparations to make the harbor of Pago-Pago as a coaling station. Monday charters were made with the American clipper ship Benj. Packard and C. C. Chapman to carry 5,000 tons of coal from Philadelphia to Pago Pago at $4 per ton, the coal to be delivered free of expense to the ships. Other charters will follow within a few days.

Washington Notes.

The house committee on Indian affairs has reported to the house favorably the senate bill to ratify the agreement with the Shoshones, Bannock and Sheepeater tribes of Indians in Idaho. The Indians agree to take up their residence upon the Fort Hall reservation in Idaho, and to surrender their present reservation.

The navy department has been advised of the arrival of the United States cruiser Atlanta at Kingston, Jamaica, with all well on board. The Atlanta will sail for Aspinal in a day or two.

MINERS AND MILLERS.

Two Important Meetings Held in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6. The joint convention of miners and mine operators, in annual session here, was attended by delegates from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The object is to agree upon a satisfactory scale of wages for the coming year. The Indiana section of the miners held a meeting before entering the convention, and practically determined that the scale should not be lowered. The first question that arose in the convention showed that the body was not free from factions, owing to the presence of members of the two antagonistic organizations, the Knights of Labor and Miners' Federation. The former was led by W. B. Ray, and the latter by W. T. Lewis.

The question of wages is still unsettled. The operators are now paying seventy five cents a ton, and want to reduce the price to seventy four cents, while the miners want an increase, but will compromise on present rates.

The convention was in session till 11 o'clock last night discussing the question of admitting the Knights of Labor. The Federation members opposed their admission as Knights of Labor while a broader policy was urged on the ground that their identity with the organization had no weight in the matter. The question is still open.

Millers' Meeting.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—Two hundred merchant millers, from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Kansas and other winter wheat states, met here yesterday for the purpose of perfecting an organization of the millers of the country. In a paper presented by Pr[illegible] Noel, he said that the purpose of the organization was to furnish protection against the flagrant outrages against the millers of the country [illegible], by rules and regulations, lessen the evils. The most important action was the bringing in of all the mill owners of Michigan. To-morrow a complete union will be perfected and rules for the government of the organization will be adopted. Last night the millers enjoyed a banquet with the usual toasts and responses.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED.

Two Boilers in an Insane Asylum Suddenly Let Go.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 6. Two boilers at the insane hospital, three miles from this city, exploded yesterday afternoon. The building is detached from the asylum proper, and contained six persons at the time of the accident, four patients and two engineers.

W. H. Hendee and T. E. Sanders, patients, were instantly killed.

A. D. Gifford, patient, crushed and scalded fatefully.

John Nelson, engineer, fatally scalded and crushed.

John Ryan, assistant engineer, and John Hall, patient, severely injured.

The hospital is without light, heat or means of cooking.

Convention of Tailors.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. The third annual convention of the Merchant Tailors' National Protective Association of the United States opened yesterday in Masonic hall, in Twenty-third street. About one hundred and fifty delegates, representing twenty-two states, from all over the country were present. Donald Lindsay, of Chicago, opened the convention with prayer, after which Sir Gran[illegible] a short address. Prof. Andrew Paterson, who occupied the chair, also made a short address, and after some routine business the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock.

Telephone Case Decided.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Judge Wallace, in the United States circuit court, decided in favor of the Bell Telephone company in its suit against the Walker Electric Telephone company for infringement of patent. In his opinion Judge Wallace says, in effect that nothing can prevail against the Bell patent according to the decisions of the supreme court, unless something new is brought out in regard to the state of the art of communication previous to the Bell patent.

An Engine Derailed.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—About 12:30 o'clock yesterday, at a point near the Winter Hill station of the Lowell railroad, in Somerville, a locomotive, becoming derailed, fell on its side across the onward track, and as it lay there was run into and pushed several feet by an ice train. Engineer W. Lankell, aged thirty five, of Montpelier, was pinned beneath the cab and dragged along the tracks. He was taken out horribly mangled and quite dead. The fireman and train crew were also injured.

A Political Murder.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 6.—Gen. Powell Clayton and Judge W. H. H. Clayton, brothers of John M. Clayton, who was assassinated January 20, made a published statement that the murder was purely political, due to the daring of Clayton in contesting the Democratic returns which elected Breckenridge to congress. They denounce the sheriff and citizens of Plumerville for not making an endeavor to apprehend the murderers.

A Female Outlaw Killed.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Feb. 6.—A telegram from Dallas, Mo., says that the notorious female outlaw, Belle Starr, has been shot and killed. She was a fine rifle shot, rode horseback from man's saddle, and has been connected with all forms of outlawry. She was rumored to have affiliated with the James boys gang and the Youngers, of Missouri.

THE Akron Telegram sizes up the situation laconically as follows - "It is clear that Bismark is losing his diplomatic grip. He has backed down from his lofty position in the Samoan affairs with the grace and rapidity of a Bayard. He has taken water and it is to be hoped that this change in the form of his liquid refreshments will do him no harm. Only once or twice in his career has Bismarck been known to recede from a position once taken. It is evident that the German Chancellor has a feeling of respect for the action of Congress, if he has not for that of the Secretary of State. It now remains for Congress to insist on all the rights it has claimed for American in Samoa. The dang r of bloodshed, if there ever was any, has passed since Bismarck has called a halt at Apia. The Samoan question now goes back to the diplomats for consideration and the war is over.

THERE is a great deal of gabble about the United States Senate being "made up of millionaires." It is not true. The New York Sun declares that a majority of the Senators are poor men, comparatively speaking. There are rich Senators, just as there are rich Representatives; but in the case of either House it is undoubtly true that nine out of ten of statesman who possess great fortunes have earned their money themselves by the exercise of those qualities of energy, industry and enterprise which have likewise made them prominent in politics.

THE appropriation bill, just completed by the House committee, which contains the items for the support of the Agricultural department, contains a proviso that said department shall in the future send its supply of seeds directly to the various State experimental stations, and thus cuts off the supply of seeds to Congressmen. The latter will no doubt be gloriously glad to be relieved from the function of seed purveyors to rural constituents.

TWENTY-THREE steamship lines, with over one hundred first class vessels, ply from the port of New York to the ports of the old world, and not one of these vessels flies the American flag. Nearly every one, if not all, of the lines has a subsidy from the government which flies its colors. It is a disgrace to this country that it does not adopt the policy which has built up all other maritime nations - that of giving subsidies to mail lines.

THE Chicago Journal is eminently correct when it remarks that if William Henry Harrison was not afraid of being over-shadowed by Daniel Webster as Secretary of State, there need be no apprehension as to Benjamin Harrison with James G. Blaine in the same position. There will not be the slightest doubt as to who is President, no matter who goes into the Cabinet.

SEND up the glad news throughout the County. The County Commissioners have begun reform and economy. This is good news but the whole thing is at the expense of the STAR and Mail. Without authority or valid reason the economic Commissioners have grabbed corn cutters and begun to cut rates for legal advertising, making the grab to the shave of 33⅓ per cent.

IF the Ohio Republicans run short of timber for Governor, Mansfield can turn up a couple of candidates. That is to say we know of a suitable Man onto for the place, and should he become a candidate there will be others from this point after the same plum. That is the way we have of doing political things at this point.

Our log-now surprises us all

We saw Miss Hines, of Marion, at our social note, last Friday night.

Isaac Clark was at Agosta on Monday of this week.

A fellow townsman fell tumbling on one of the counters the other evening, effecting some little contusion, such as fainting, sprinkling of water, rubbing, etc., Some one suggested that John Wright leave the store for relief to the patient. John caught a rabbit that day. Whew!

Several of the Scot Town folks have been attending the log meeting at Agosta this week.

We hear various ones complaining about new sidewalks in our town. Gentlemen, we suggest something of this kind

Mrs. Ketchum is recovering from her illness.

Miss Grace and Dell Gray have listed for the summer and winter teaching, one three miles north, and the other three miles south of Marion.

Since seeing the item in last week's Mirror about the organization of Hazing societies we heard a young man say that he would break the crystal of his new watch if they would elect one here.

Mr. George Eikel returned from New York Street on last Saturday.

Mr. Bruce Virden has bought two acres of land joining the corporation of Marion. He expects to move in the near future.

James Hatfield, some few days ago, while working about the barn, was kicked and thrown over a pile of lumber which lay in the rear part. He survives the jolt but with a dilapidated plug hat.

We advise Sauer Kraut, of Mott C, to keep his gun, he may need it.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

STYLES THAT REIGN AT PRESENT. HINTS OF CHANGES TO COME.

Tea Gowns That Have Taxed the Inventive Genius of Modistes—Evening Costumes for Children's Wear at Weddings and Birthday Parties.

Directoire styles reign at present, but there are hints that they will hardly survive the winter, giving way to an even plainer make of gown. The old Princess style is once more to be seen. Rich materials, hard outlines, curious blending of colors, and modern adaptation of classical design, seem to be the order of the day.

TEA GOWN IN BLACK VELVET.

Tea gowns, which it possible are more popular than ever, are garments that admit of great originality. Quite new in idea is a vieux rose cloth silk, with cream and green pompadour stripes; the back hangs full and plain, save for two jolbying pleats at the back of the waist. The bodice is most picturesque, having a large wired Elizabethan frill of lace starting from the side revers. The front is entirely composed of soft cream Sicilienne, which falls in full unbroken folds from neck to feet, kept in their place by a loosely knotted girdle of the same, ending in bows of ribbon.

Velvet rose is a favorite tone for tea gowns, where vivid contrasts are considered in good taste. One, in pompadour silk of that tint, was trimmed with embroidered faint yellow crepe de chine, which appeared in the front and formed the lower portion of the sleeves. The collar and sleeves were made high.

In the cut here given to represent a tea gown in black velvet, which is a decidedly quiet and stately affair. The full front of crepe de chine is embroidered in gold and gray. The corsage fronts and train are of black velvet.

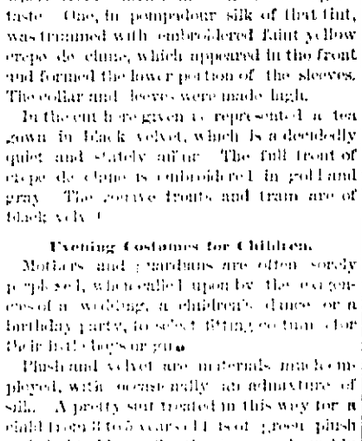
Evening Costumes for Children.

Mothers and guardians are often sorely perplexed, when called upon by the occurrences of a wedding, a children's dance or a birthday party, to select fitting costumes for their little boys or girls.

Plush and velvet are materials much employed, with occasionally an admixture of silk. A pretty suit treated in this way for a child from 8 to 9 years old is of green plush and light blue silk, the tones admirably blended. It was made with full knickerbockers, and a zouave jacket over a full silk blouse, with a broad pleat down the center, and ceinture sash, which goes round the waist, and falls at the side in two fringed ends.

The plush sleeves are made sufficiently short to show a full silk sleeve below, set in a wristband, and a large turn down collar of the plush is set round the jacket, giving a bright, light appearance, well suited to a young boy. For a little older lad there is a suit of plush, made with light breeches, fastened at the knee, with waistcoat of a lighter shade, covered with steel buttons, the all round jacket the same, and having back revers to show the lining. A Norfolk jacket made in plush, with the band low down on the waist, fastened with a metal clasp, is a new idea, and has breeches to correspond. This can be worn in velveteen, in black, brown, blue or red. Sailor suits are also worn in plush or velveteen trimmed with gold braid, and have a silk and gold cord round the neck. These sailor suits are worn at juvenile parties and by well-to-do fancy balls, as well as for ordinary juvenile dances, which is an advantage, and by the favorite costume of Lord Fauntleroy.

In the annexed cut is shown an appropriate evening costume for a boy known as the cavalier suit. It is of black velvet, the sash is of moire ribbon. A gaspere lace collar and a puffed shirt are accessories to the handsome and effective suit.



CAVALIER SUIT—CHINA CREPE DRESS.

The remaining figure, in the same cut, represents a dressy and yet simple toilet for a little girl. The dress is of pleated china crape, tinted crushed strawberry and dotted here and there with rosettes of moss green velvet, the sash is also made of the velvet.

There are some charming little dresses in school in the neck and sleeves so as to be thoroughly elastic. A pretty frock of light blue cashmere is smocked and the turn down collar richly embroidered. With this costume goes a dainty little pouch pocket slung on the side by a loop of white ribbon.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Experiments Upon the Curious and Interesting Phenomena of Hypnotism.

Hypnotism, that obscure subject which even the light of modern science fails to make quite clear, possesses a curious interest for nearly all minds. Among scientists who have lately concerned themselves with the strange power is the Berlin Medical society, before which Dr. Feldmann, a French physician, introduced by Professor Virchow, made a number of experiments, among them the following: A young man offered himself as a "medium" or subject of experiment, and after a few seconds of the usual manipulations on the part of Dr. Feldmann, he succumbed to a deep magnetic sleep, becoming entirely apathetic and motionless. In this state of "suggestion," as it is termed, Dr. Feldmann showed the influence of various medicaments on the medium, who took quinine for sugar, smacking his lips with enjoyment, and he believed ammonia to be perfume, and smelt at it for some time. Immediately afterwards, following the will of the doctor, he showed the usual signs of abhorrence of those bitter and caustic substances. With the same success he ate a lemon for an apple. A piece of camphor held on his forehead had a singular effect. The medium bent his body far backwards and had to be held in his chair. A magnet caused a dreamy state, during which the medium related his impressions as to events in the street, in which he believed himself to be. Then the medium obeyed the will of the doctor in various ways, shoveling snow, skating, falling and rising again with one jump at the doctor's suggestion, and finally took a pocketbook by force out of Professor Virchow's pockets. He was then ordered by Dr. Feldmann to rest at himself, and soon woke out of the hypnotic sleep, remembering nothing of what had happened.

Fainting In Its Common Form.

Only a small proportion of persons ever faint under any circumstances. But a few faint at the slightest cause, fear, joy, grief, unpleasant sights, noisome smells, heated and impure air, sudden accident or some irritation of the stomach or other internal organs. The exciting cause varies in different persons, and each should guard himself at his own point of exposure. In any case of faintness every obstacle to the freest action of the heart and lungs should be removed by the loosening of the clothing. But the first thing is to get the patient into a recumbent posture, flat on the back. We know of one person subject to fainting who had learned always, at the first sensation, to take this posture of her own accord, and it speedily terminated the attack. If the person is in a crowded assembly, she should at once be taken into fresh air, but under no circumstances should anything be placed under her head. The more common form of fainting does not necessarily tend to shorten life.

Bandaging the Eye.

The custom, prevalent among physicians as well as the laity, of tightly binding, nay, tying up the eye as soon as it becomes inflamed or sore, is pronounced by Dr. Bernhard Heath a bad one. The result upon the eyes is to preclude the free access and withdrawal of tests of fresh, cool air, and at the same time to prevent or greatly retard the free egress of the hot tears and morbid secretions of the inflamed conjunctiva or cornea, or both. In those cases, too, where a foreign substance has got into the eye, the bandage (which is usually clapped on the first thing) presses the lids more closely against the ball and thereby increases the pain and discomfort by augmenting the irritations caused by the foreign body. This cannot fail to be harmful. In those cases where the light is painful, subject over the organ a neatly fitting shade, which, while it excludes the light, allows the free access of air.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

The Wood and Varnish of Society Hints to Aspiring Young Women.

There is a coarse stock in almost common and in almost every other woman's furnish and veneer rarely varying quantities remaining intact for years. It is safe not to scratch too deeply or to subject her pretenses to abrupt extremes of temperature; if you would not expose the rough framework beneath the gloss. The next time she is formed at her master's prayer and bid him spring from his arms to devour a caress, she strayed into the room. There are hours in our social wainscots, and once in a while scampers across a drawing room floor to prove that now, as in Aesop's day, nature is stronger than custom.

The Girl Who Aspires to Social Success.

The young aspirant for fashion must don full on her armor. If she bows a frozen or peremptory irritability in small things, if she is fussy about her supposed rights, if she keeps people waiting, if she is not polite, if she is too polite, she will not be popular. She must bear heat as a draught without flinching; she must not resent a slight, she must never publicly resent a lack of respect—that is in the worst taste. If she be in a crowd she must propitiate that crowd.

Manners as a Study.

A young man's manners may be elegant and his accomplishments numerous without injuring his usefulness. To study manners to make that enamel on solid gold which has made such Americans as Everett, Motley, Livingston, Jay, Bayard, McClellan and Story, cannot be a poor study. The men who have influenced their race have had fine manners.

Bridesmaids' Bouquets.

In England the new bridesmaids' bouquets are the military red, which are suitable for white or red dresses, or for nursing with dark blue. The latest idea is to attach the bouquets to the Louis XV walking sticks. Sometimes they are worn in a shoulder knot from the arm by ribbons.

One of the new fancies is a bouquet composed of tinted leaves, with delicate grasses put in lightly, and without flowers. The ribbons, which are supposed to tie all together, are of colors corresponding or harmonizing with the tints of the leaves. The bridesmaids' costumes may be of cream, terra cotta, pale green, or almost any color, and sometimes the ribbons match the costumes, and the contents of the bouquets are selected to go with them.

Daniel Webster as a Financier.

This was a good way of getting rid of a borrower, if done, but Daniel Webster once found a better. The best one indeed on record, for, like the man who bought the cloth for shirts, he killed two birds with one stone.

"Well, sir," said Rufus Choate, one day, "I want to borrow $700 and I want you'd lend it to me."

"I have not the money today, Mr. Choate," said Webster, "but you give me your note and I guess I can get it for you."

Grateful beyond measure, Choate sat down to write the note.

"Pardon me, Choate," said Webster, from the other side of the table, "but as well not write that note for $1,000 and I can get you $700 myself."

"Certainly," said Choate, chuckling, and he did not care to for an even thousand.

Then the immortal Daniel transferred down to a dollar coffee.

"Ah! anything I can do for you today, Mr. Webster."

"Can you discount a note for a thousand for me?"

"With pleasure."

The great statesman pocketed $1000 in bill, gave $700 to Choate, who was quite in hysterics, and kept the other $300 for Daniel Webster, esquire, who will be remembered in the world's finances for ever and ever.

The Unexpected Always Happens.

Mugwump—Miss Dora, I must speak at last. I have long loved your mamma and would be my wife!

Clara Wilson, Mugwump, the moon is truly unexpected, I—

Mugwump—Oh, Clara darling, you have made me so happy. Now, please, name the day.

Clara—But you didn't let her finish you, Mr. Mugwump. I only love your papa always on week days.

Mugwump—Ah, I see he is not a Democrat, Clara dear. If there is perfect trust always happen, you know. You never expected it many mo. I propose, and am accepted. Pres. Splendid Union.

Supposed a Case.

A man in Boston entered a fourth story avenue grocery the other day and laid the proprietor a silver dollar to two cents worth of candy.

"Did I hear you?" was the reply.

"You heard what I said," was the answer.

"Put what mark do you suppose I'd trust you?"

"I expect I ought to get two dollars worth of that candy, and I could have heard you if I'd been in the front room."

The grocer compromised by treating the boy to a cent worth of candy and rolling the bar out of the door.—Detroit Free Press.

Tommy's Tonsorial Taste.

A Rockford man has a smart little boy, who a few days ago was caught cutting the long curly hair from the head of his 2-year old brother's doll. "Why, Tommy!" shrieked his horrified mamma, "what are you doing?"

"I just wanted Tedd's to be bald-headed, like papa," replied the little fellow. "Don't Ted! But here comes papa, I guess he'll put a stop to the mischief."—Rockford Register-Gazette.

He's All Right.

Smith—Do you know Yellowly?

Jones—Tom Yellowly? Yes, I know him very well.

Smith—Is he a good moral character?

Jones—Ha! ha! Well, you better believe so!

Smith—You are sure?

Jones—Sure! Why, man, he's worth $10,000,000.—Boston Courier.

Evading the Rule.

"Will you have a piece of this new mince pie, Tommy?" said Tommy's aunt, with whom he was taking his dinner.

"Please, ma'am," replied the little fellow, holding his plate, "but you might put two pieces on now, mamma has taught me never to pass my plate back for the second piece."—Yonkers Statesman.

In Rugged English.

At school one day our Beth's teacher, noticing her little brother's absence, asked her if Robin were ill.

"Oh, no'm, ma'ed," Beth answered promptly, "he'th thick."—Youth's Companion.

A Financial Episode.

First Crook—Makin' any money nowadays, Jack?

Second Crook—Lots of it.

"In what line?"

"I'm in business as an interfeiter."—Nebraska State Journal.

LONGEVITE

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often wonder at our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health keeper, life preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is summed down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Tasty Vinegar Bitters, they would not waste a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names, guess, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It establishes order at a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Remember the New Style Pleasant Tasty Vinegar and bottle before you forget it. Try it, and you will feel happier than you ever had found a gold mine, for health is a mine of health.

Free from alcohol and opium; composed of expensive herbs and roots, with a fine, delicate flavouring.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Only 60 Days More

And the great tearing down and building up sale of Clothing will stop short. I am still selling suits of all descriptions at sacrifice prices, and you will have to blame yourself if you don't secure one or more of them.

You never have before, and will not again buy clothing for the prices I shall offer them to you for the next 60 days. It matters not, if you need a suit or not, if you come in and see the goods and hear the price, you are bound to purchase.

Now remember, only 60 days longer and down goes this store, and then what I myself don't know as yet, where and how I shall sell goods, until I move into the new Bennett block. So you see I am compelled to sell all I can at present.

SAM OPPENHEIMER.

REDUCTION PRICES CONTINUE!

☞Our Reduction sale having proved very successful, we have concluded to continue the reduced prices until

FEBRUARY 10.

We have proven to our customers that an HONEST REDUCTION is being made in Marion, and they are convinced that money is made by buying goods now for Spring and Summer wear.

☞This cut includes everything in our stock, bought in bills of one dollar and upwards.

☞We are making special inducements in Muslins, also selling Cloaks and Winter Goods without regard to their original cost.

This sale will positively close February 10th.

Trash

Scotch Ginghams!

This is to be a Gingham season, if the sales this early indicate what is to come The fine Scotch Ginghams are fast colors; we have them in Stylish Stripes and Plaids and in Neat Checks.

C. F. MILLER,

Centennial Block: E. Center St.

—Miss Mildred Hopkins has returned from a three months visit in Michigan.

—Bauer's quarters is headquarters for choice butter and eggs. 70tf

—All sizes and kinds of both hard and soft coals can be had of L. B. Gorley's, No. 16 south East street. Call on him. 42tf

Mr. and Mrs. James Hershberger, nee Jennie Martin, of Galion, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Eckhart, on east Center street.

John W. Thomas, of Caledonia, and Miss Bertha Shinn, of Bellefontaine avenue, were married by Squire M. V. Payne Tuesday night.

Col. Wm. Moran is again the instructor and manager of a brass band in this city, whose services can be reasonably secured on any desired occasion.

—An elegant line of commercial packet and letter size tablets, ruled and plain, rough and smooth finish, in all the popular kinds of paper, at Wiant's.

It's officially announced that in the past 11 years the ground hog shadow business has flatly failed seven times and been partially successful the other 4.

Bausinger Bros.' delivery horse enlivened things on West street this forenoon by a lively runaway, which was, however, unattended by any serious results.

Mr. George Foster, of this city, well known as a musical authority, says: "The Kate Bensberg Opera Co. I have heard, and pronounce their music first class."

—The earning of the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo railroad for the month of January were $290,992 against $295,252 the same month in '88, an increase of $489.

—Miss Evelyn Conley will pay suitable reward for the return of her muff boa for which was lost on the streets last Thursday night. The same can be left at this office or at L. Denison & Co's.

Prospect Monitor: John Thomasma came down from Marion Monday, on a business trip. ... E. Katz, of Marion, was in town on Monday. ... John Shrader, of Marion, was in town Tuesday, on business.

—The wedding of one of the boarders of the T.A. and B. house was celebrated in high style Tuesday night. The blushing bride and happy groom received quite a number of their friends until a late hour, and the occasion was made a thoroughly one.

The Elks' committee has revealed the following, which will explain itself: "Your patrons will hear one of the best operatic entertainments they have ever heard, and you may assume that they will have one of the finest Prima Donna's in America." Yours Truly, B. BENSBERG.

—Squire Payne filed a transcript today with the Clerk of Court in the case of the State of Ohio vs. Goliath Merkle, for embezzlement. Merkle was arrested on complaint of the Schaefer Brew. Brewing Co., who claimed he collected funds amounting to $250, on their account from Mr. Merkle gave bond in $200 to appear before Squire Payne.

We called at the residence of Barney Fay on Center street Thursday morning following. There is no doubt in this county, that exacting lawyers could find objections were he to be called to jury duty. The individual referred to, who never reads a paper, emerged from the back woods Saturday and came to town. Happening to meet a man he knew he called him to one side and fairly knocked him out by sincerely inquiring who had been elected President? The Sheriff will look for him the next time the Audi'torial comes up.

—Marion Star News: The local branch of the express companies received orders yesterday from headquarters to restore the rates of 1886, in accordance with the agreement entered into by the managers of the express companies, who met in New York, Saturday, at which it was agreed that all hostilities in the war of rates should cease. What the schedule rates will be from this point is not yet known, but the highest price will be charged for all produce and merchandise express matter. One of the factors in the rate war, which has been going on for the past two years, was in handling goods from travelers' sample trunks and accompanying them at special rates. Hereafter full price will be charged and the full weight of the sample cases and trunks carried by commercial travelers and others. This of course will have a tendency to increase the rates on a number of articles, while on many it will remain unchanged.

—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuler, on east Center street, Monday, and now the new foreman of the Huber shops has greatly increased his becoming dignity.

Little Nugget played to a good house at Music Hall Tuesday night, and gave very general satisfaction. The play is feminine and the acting better than ever, and the good music of the orchestra adds an hundred per cent. to the entertainment in the estimation of a Marion audience.

—On the removal of Mrs Eliza C. Dickerson from this place to Galion, O., the Marion Relief Association, of which she was a devoted member, presented her with an elegant plush chair, sending it over as a surprise to greet her on her arrival at her new home. Mrs. Dickerson was one of the charter members of this society, and an unassuming, self-denying worker.

—A replevin suit between James King, Sr., and L. Reber, attracted considerable attention in Squire Payne's court Tuesday. It seems that after the return of James King, Jr., from the west, he found all his property levied upon in the interest of bank claims, and he immediately assigned all his property to James King, Sr. The senior King removed the grain to Mr. Reber's property, and during the transaction Mr. Reber had 200 bushels of corn placed as his property, for he had purchased and paid for 1000 worth of young King and only about 700 bushels had been delivered. Both the senior King and Reber claimed the disputed corn, and the former brought suit in replevin. The case was tried before a jury and a verdict returned for Reber.

—"Why do you not use the prefix 'Mr.' before the names of gentlemen?" queries a correspondent whose welcome item that "Mr. so and so" etc., had the blue pencil run through it to the extent of the elimination of the "Mr." For the simple reason, dear correspondent, that the Mr. is to a large extent dropping out of print. It is an unnecessary waste of cap M's and lower case r's and is about as useless as a fifth wheel for a wagon. It is to be presumed that "John Smith" or "T. L. Brown" is a "Mister," or at least that neither is a "Mrs." or a "Miss" and it is not dignified enough to be a "Mr." without that prefix the giving of it will not make him so. Just as the use of the "Mr." has been abandoned to large extent in the addressing of an envelope, so it is being discarded in print.

—Prospect Monitor: A fire broke out in John B. Wyatt's barn on Sunday evening about half past nine o'clock, which might have resulted disastrously had it not been for the timely discovery by some young men who happened to be in that part of town and extinguished it before the fire department arrived. A shed had been built adjoining the barn in which was kept an ash barrel. At some time fire had been thrown into the barrel, which burned through and ignited the side of the barn. When discovered it had burned up the side of the barn and through the roof of the shed, and required very prompt action on the part of the boys to control it. Had the barn been burned, no doubt it would have been laid on to some incendiary, which is so often the case, when the whole cause is carelessness.

Huntington Democrat: Last evening, about 8 o'clock Policemen Beck and Dolton, Detective Bullard of the Wabash road, and agent Knapp, arrested eleven tramps who had fallen possession of a work train car on the Grand Avenue and were having a grand carousal. One of the party had bought two hundred cigars of boys paying for them in work. Second class fed to the suspicion that these were of the party that had robbed the Wabash office and carried off the papers other property the night before. It is now suspected that the Wabash office lost between forty and four dollars in small change. The tramps were locked up, but this morning four of them broke out of the calaboose and got away. The others, this afternoon, were given a trial by the Mayor. Their cases were not decided at the time of going to press.

A Taste of Opera.

(Advertisement, Auburn, N. Y.)

The Bensberg Opera Co. were greeted by a good house in the Academy last evening, and the audience, for Auburn, was singularly appreciative. The "Sleeping Queen" by Balfe, was given particularly well, the vocal numbers being rendered with fine effects, and true tone given with spirit. The intricacies were eloquently sustained. Miss Bensberg amply justified all the good things said of her before her advent here, possessing a beautiful soprano voice. Her interpretation of the "Sleeping Queen," Mellnda's "Waltz song" was executed with ease, vocal ability, and took the house by storm. It may be said of Miss Bensberg that she fairly elevated the audience in all that she did, either as the beautiful and graceful Sleeping Queen or in the more impressive part of Marguerite in Gounod's "Faust." We look for a brilliant future for this American prima donna.

Normal Notes.

Miss Gavell has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Smith.

Two new students registered this week.

Eva Geddis Sundayed with school mates near Adelaide.

Protracted meeting begins next week in Normal Hall. All are cordially invited.

Miss Lula Dickerson, a former Normal student, has accepted a position as teacher in the primary department of the North End district.

Mary Klinefelter, who was reported on the sick list last week, is able to attend school again.

A number of young people of Claridon, in company with the Normalites, spent last Friday evening very pleasantly at the home of C. B. Merchant.

Mrs. Titus, who has been visiting her children here during the past week, returned to her home near Clarandon, Saturday.

We advise the distinguished? editor of the "Advocate" and his worthy? assistants to crawl "into the soup" and spoon out a few more cute? expressions.

We understand a few of the students have joined a theatrical company which will play in this city in a few weeks. We do not know the title of their production.

"Harry's" new magazine, "The Old Maids' Companion," will be read at Society next Friday evening. Come and hear it.

Ottis Fail Sundayed at his home near Marseilles.

A lamp explosion caused considerable excitement in room number four, "Smim Died," last Tuesday evening.

The "Karthumpian orchestra" serenaded Mr. Harvey Willison and Miss Florence Irey at a late hour last Friday night.

—H. R. Clowes, of the Prospect Advance, was in the city over night.

—W. L. Warner was in Cleveland today on a business trip for the dry goods house of Warner & Edwards.

We offer at easy price a nice building lot on Cherry street, where it is easy to get a cellar and drainage. Nice neighborhood.
CHASE & HUNTER.

—J. F. McNeal was at Columbus today on legal business.

—W. H. Robinson is suffering from an abscess forming on his left hip.

—Miss Anna Dennis, of Upper Sandusky, is visiting the Misses Culbertson, on west South street.

—Delaware is having some recent White Cap experience that smacks of the genuine thing. An aged colored dame, accused of lying, is the intended victim.

—W. S. Green, of Caledonia, was in the city today on his return home after three months spent in Texas. Mr. Green is not delighted with the Lone Star State.

—G. M. Rice, residing on Mark street, who has been seriously ill with throat trouble, we are pleased to state is improving under the care of Dr. Hamilton.

—Bucyrus is agitating the lease of gas land in the Upper Sandusky field for the purpose of receiving gas for Bucyrus' use. The feasibility of such a step might well be considered here in Marion.

—The sale of reserved seats for the Opera began at Tristram & Young's this morning. Our music loving public should remember that Opera comes not often, and take advantage of this their golden opportunity. Many of the choice seats remain yet for selection.
